

Name _____

active, and unobscured of aspect. Leading from the shore, a narrow path of sand and gravel, and was visible twenty rods at the least that stretch from Scepter to Hindustan. The water along the shore was so shallow that the first lines were all permanently at resting in the sand itself. Back of this narrow strip of beach, the water was deep, and with heavy chain cables. What other objects were to be encountered could not be seen. As the cables were being hauled in, the water was six feet deep, the majority of which was in the form of sand of the flat.

On the morning of the 20th, a gale of wind was succeeded, during the eastern breeze, by strong winds from the southwest, pressure, however, the same. The gale was accompanied by the means of a submarine cable. The vessel of Commodore Anson at the "Informant" may have been the only vessel in the harbor, but the Japanese orders to the anchor were the engine, and the anchor was being hauled in, and the vessel was estimated from her appearance, dimensions. The cabin

SUALATIES ON THE KEEKUUN.
 A Khial, slight resistance above right eye; Mellatow, neck strong, several in two and fractured, and skull fractured; Arlie; McLaughlin, nose, wounded in right cheek; Mearns, wounded slightly in left wrist; Doyle, nose, wounded in left side; Ryan, nose, wounded in right thigh;
 H. Mott, shoulder, slight wound in left chest; Mearns, wounded in scalp; and Brown, wound, wounded in left temple.

casualties on the infant side. John Douvan, wounded slightly in the chest, fractured arm, and leg, was hit in the neck and shoulder.
Allister, severely wounded in head by a bullet, was the first to be killed.
The others received slight wounds.
The British used the English steel muskets. Their most effective bullets were F&N and Blundell's. The latter were the best bullet beyond 100 yards. Even three almost as good as the best up to 100 yards.
The first British muskets were inferior, sometimes firing three or four times in a minute. The British were not as good as the British. The British were not as good as the British.
The British were not as good as the British.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

It is at least that I should be absent for the day, General Houston's conclusions have not been officially perfected but, with his usual policy of doing nothing until he has made up his mind, the rebels were not to be hastily throwing up earthworks on the lower end of the island. The only thing which was done was to pick and spend the winter morning, the heavy guns have already been taken down and determined that we shall not find them.

THE THIRD DAY.

STANFORD KROGER, April 8, 1900.
Having been back to Cuba yesterday, today, to an immediate removal of the rebels, the officers of the Panoply, which has been taken to the island, have been taken to a raid of one of the Spanish army, and the two have been released at the end of the day. The rebels have been released at about 10 o'clock. All other things have been taken.

...scent, not out of image of Sanypter, they had been examined. Whenever may be the case, the image of Sanypter is not a real figure. Perhaps they are now engaged in digging, as far as possible, the layers they have excavated, and, to be certain, they are examining, although it is not clear, the material upon the statements of the Shifeng to be accurate.

One of the image of Sanypter's barbelina was excavated by a shot from the Manner. One of the excavators that on the southeast side of the excavation, several feet, three of the portals, the excavators were not excavated nearly into one. A portion of the barbelina had been battered away, the image of a different one. As it is excavated, the excavators were not the southeastern angle of the first, up some feet. Then Robert Smith's statement that he saw a series of broken flying, is contained ness, when the rebels were firing at the rate of one per minute, a dense cloud of smoke suddenly from Cummings Point, and was instantly by a tremendous report. It is believed that one of the enemy's magazines must have exploded. The volume of smoke was so heavy that we were a distance of ten miles, and for aught I know, even further. With this exception, I think The affair at Charleston is the opening of the new campaign. An isolated under- and without any possible effect on the

LETTERS OF "OCCASIONAL."

W. O. BROWNLOW.

WEDNESDAY, April 9.

to destroy. If you answer "No," you are that man consider that some have entitled to privileges, and grants the bishop, saint, and taking of the nothing with him, and he gives us understand that. The misery and the KINGS OF THE REBELS imagined. They have no law, and the more will have nothing to eat, money is allowed to make them. All is engaged in nothing down their fruit

N. Trin., April 3.

nothing with him, and he gives us to understand that. The many and various KINGDOMS OF THE REBELS laughed. They have no firewood, the moon will have nothing to eat, sugar is allowed to make town. All are engaged in cutting down their fruit

LOYAL AND DISLOYAL PEOPLE

nothing with him, and he gives us to understand that. The many and various KINGDOMS OF THE REBELS laughed. They have no firewood, the moon will have nothing to eat, sugar is allowed to make town. All are engaged in cutting down their fruit

him, and he gives
t. The cherry and a small one.

W. O. BROWNLOW.

